

The General George Catlett Marshall House

1301 Officers Row • Vancouver, WA 98661

Once the home of Nobel Prize for Peace recipient and five star General George C. Marshall, the Marshall House is now open to the public for tours six days a week and available for public and private events.

The variety of rooms and abundance of antique tables and chairs make this building ideal for small to medium sized business meetings, dinner parties, weddings, and other celebrations.

The use of the surrounding, prestinely kept grounds increase the capacity of this facility in the summer months.

Amenities include: ADA accessible, TV with VCR/DVD, portable sound system, portable projector and screen, ample free parking within walking distance, unique selection of antique tables, chairs and couches, and a convenient catering kitchen (no oven or stove).

Weekday meetings from $50/hour

Weekend events from $150/hour
